New Election Law.

Complete revision of the present system of election is provided in a bill which was introduced in the Senate by Representative Pirtle. It is one of the several important bills which were introduced and which are of a sweeping character.

Mr. Pirtle's bill does away with primaries and conventions and connects them with elections, having only one day in the year when any voting for any candidates can be had. His system is to have the names of all the candidates for any office put on the ballot, to be used on the day of the general election, and the candidate of the Republican who receives the largest number of votes shall receive all the votes cast for the other candidates on that same ticket. The same would apply to the candidates on the Democratic ticket or any other ticket which might have one or more candidates.

For instance, as he explained, if there are five candidates on the Republican side for Governor, and five on the Democratic side, instead of one of each being selected before the election day, all ten names would be put on the ballot at the general election, each under his own party emblem. The voters would then vote for whoever they desired. The man who received the largest number of votes on the Republican side would be credited with the votes cast for the other four Republican candidates. The same would apply to the Democratic candidates, and the man receiving the largest number of votes, would be declared elected. Mr. Pirtle believes that this plan would do away with the frauds in primaries and conventions and would prevent the troubles which have prevailed within parties over the nomination of candidates. The bill in its present form is as follows:

It is enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. That the election of officers for all elective offices, State, district, city, ward, town, precinct, or any other division or subdivision, except school districts and towns of the fifth and sixth classes be as follows:

First—No candidate shall announce for any office earlier than one hundred days before the election. November no later than fifteen days before said election.

Second—All candidates for office shall be nominated by petition, as provided in Section 1,453, chapter 41, Kentucky Statutes.

Third—The names of the various candidates for the respective offices shall be printed under the names of the offices for which they are candidates, in regular order, one under the other, as they may determine by lot, and the name of each candidate shall have immediately on its right a small square, large enough to contain the cross-mark by which the voter is required to designate his vote.

Fourth—The list of candidates of the different parties shall be printed in parallel vertical columns on one ballot under the names and devices of the respective parties, and in the order of the party ranking higher in votes at the previous election.

Fifth—The candidate receiving the highest number of votes of his party for the office to which he aspires shall have counted for him all the votes of all the candidates of the party in the same office, and of any party, receiving the greatest total number of votes so counted shall be declared elected.

Section 2. All laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

In speaking of Goaler Johnson's candidacy for Sheriff of Fulton county, the Fulton Leader has the following to say: "It gives us great pleasure to say that Mr. Johnson is perhaps the most widely known young man in the county having filled the office which he now holds for the past three and one-half years in a most satisfactory manner, he has many friends over the entire county who know him to be an honest, straightforward young man, and we predict a hard struggle for the man who attempts to defeat him."

The world's record price was paid for Burley Thursday by the American Tobacco Company, when $30 per hundred was paid for 250 hogsheads at Lexington.

To The Voters of Fulton County, says:

I am making the race for Sheriff

DAVE.

Library Contract Let.

The contract for the erection of Hickman's new $10,000 Carnegie Library building was let this week by our Board of Education to the lowest bidder—W. H. Spradlin, of Fulton, being the lucky man. His bid of $9,850 which will leave a balance of $150 to be applied on grounds, etc. Mr. Spradlin is the gentleman who built our courthouse, and is competent to "deliver the goods."

Work will begin in a very short time—just as soon as the weather gets better.

Jas. Barber, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Barber who works at the Mengel factory, died Sunday, of pneumonia. He was buried at Brownsville, Monday. This is the second child to die in this family within the last thirty days, and misfortune seems to have overtaken them. Another one of their boys is sick, but is to be expected.

Mr. Barber resides in what is known as the old handle factory building, and were it not for charitable assistance, the family would be in very trying circumstances.

The Amateur Musical Club met with Mrs. Charles F. Baltzer Mon-and the following program will be rendered. Hours—Hamburg—Mendelsohn, Miss Annie Ellison, Paper on broken his connection with that firm.

Dr. Wm. Bright was called to East Prairie Saturday, on account of the illness of his son, Dave Bright, editor of the East Prairie Eagle. He should say the one-third interest is owned by the firm of Bryant & Polhamus. The drinks are on us.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found an article about The Hickman Drug Co., stating that J. R. Bryant owned one-third of the stock. It should say the one-third interest is
owned by the firm of Bryant & Polhamus. The drinks are on us.

Under the head of announcements will be found the name of Charles D. Roe, as a candidate for Assessor of Fulton County. He is a son of Fred Roe, an old Confederate Veteran and a widely known man. Mr.
Roe was born and reared in Fulton county and should be well qualified for the office which he asks for. The Court is only briefly acquainted with this gentleman, but we hear him very highly spoken of by uninterested parties, and if these reports be true, he is a hard man to beat in this race, H. Beaten at all.
Mr. Roe hails from the Brownsville neighborhood, at which place he conducts a mercantile business, and is held in high esteem.

The Ladies of the Euchre Club were entertained Wednesday afternoon at the Courthouse, by Miss Light Farris. There were five tables, sixteen club members and four visitors. No prizes were given, but a box of candy was presented each guest. A salad course was served.

At the special term of the Fulton County Fiscal Court held at the Courthouse Monday, the sheriff of this county was exonerated of taxes on $60,000 worth of property that could not be found, also duplicate assessments. Of this amount, the Singer Company was exonerated of $10,000.

—ELLEN BROS.

Dave Morgan comes out in this issue with his announcement as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Fulton County. Not to know Dave is not to know the jolliest fellow in the county. He ought to have some county office for this reason, if not otherwise. But Dave expects to be elected to the office which he seeks it for, which is honest and honest for anything—and we think they do.
He is well known, popular and has a host of friends, the leading of Deacon Snow, who is continually talking out good things about him which Dave's extreme modesty keeps him mentioning.

It would be out of place for us to express our opinion as to how he will run in this race—we do not want to discourage anyone else—but just keep your weather eye on this gentleman.

Outside of our store you will not find a stock of

According to Carlyle,

all clothes are symbols and all symbols are clothes. Your clothes show what you think of yourself. They are the frame which you select for your personal picture. No wonder that particular women find them important. No help that you can get in this matter is too competent; no suggestions are too excellent.

We recommend to you The Ladies Home Journal Patterns. Their designs are practical and modish, and if you see them when they first appear in The Ladies' Home Journal you have plenty of time in which to get them.

On account of there being no tax collected to maintain this levee it is going to be necessary for the citizens and merchants to donate for these funds, which we hope they will all do liberally.

We also wish to call attention to trespassers and people who are disposed to ride or drag along the levee. This is one of the laws that the government is very strict on and have posted notices along the levee warning people as to what the law is, penalty, etc., which is a fine for each offence, not less than $2, 500, half of this amount going to the party who reports it and we have a straight "tip" from the government officers that they intend to enforce this ordinance.

Now do not think because you see some of the watchmen of the levee riding along it that that authorizes you to do the same thing.

We believe if the people show appreciation of what the government has done for us and help maintain this levee, as they are doing at all places where such work has been done, we can expect other assistance —otherwise we need not look for much more aid from the government.

Protracted Meeting.

A Truism Gone Wrong.

Blids of a feather flock together, unless they get on high hats. Then, of course, they are scattered all over the country.

Smith Fields Dead.

Smith Fields, one of the best known business men of this county passed away at his home in Fulton, Ky., Monday morning, of tuberculosis of the lungs after quite a siege of ill health.

Mr. Fields was born in Fulton county 42 years ago, and had had a successful business career which was due entirely to his own efforts. He was president of the First National Bank of Fulton and for the past ten years had been tobacco buyer for the Italian government in this country.

The surviving members of the family are his wife and his three daughters. The deceased had resided in Kentucky all his life. His wife was a Miss Bedford, of Hickman county. They had been married about twenty years.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church in Fulton, Wednesday morning, by Rev. W. A. Freeman.

Fulton county loses a good man with his passing.

Opportunity Again Knocks.

We are again presented with an opportunity to get a flouring mill in Hickman. R. D. McReynolds, of Lewisburg, Ky., is the gentleman who makes inquiry as to whether or not we need this industry.

Do we need it? Can a duck swim? We need any kind of an institution that will keep $3,000 a month in Hickman, and his proposition will do just that much. It is not a question of getting wheat, but a question, getting a market for the output, a site, a man to embark in the business—it is simply a question of whether or not enough interest will be manifested to encourage its establishment. Somebody said the old mill didn't do much good here. Of course not; we didn't use one-half as much flour as we do now, but the old mill made money. Hickman has a number of enterprises now that could not have existed then. And then the old mill belonged to the pioneer class of mills—modern machinery has supplanted the like. But that's not the question.

Would you like to have a good mill in Hickman?

CERTAIN RESULT.

Many a Kentucky Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Kentucky. There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical sufferer. Read the following statement:

Mrs. L. Varalli living at 935 Fifth St., Louisville, Ky., says: "I am happy to say that Doan's Kidney Pills have been of great benefit to me and to other members of my family. I frequently had attacks of backache and kidney trouble before using your remedy but after using two boxes of the pills the trouble were entirely cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a great many of my friends for I attribute my present good health to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

COURIER FARM NOTES

In making a team not only color and size, but strength, endurance and gait must be considered.

Accustom the heifer calves early to being handled. It will make their handling when calving much easier.

Even the common cow will often astonish one by the results she will give with proper care and generous feed.

In the well close enough to the barn to eat the surface water when it rains hard? This is important. If it is stop using that well.

Make things snug for winter. Get everything under cover. Store the root crops properly. Do everything you can to cut off winter losses.

Again this winter you will probably wish that you had built a silo. Make definite plans for building one next year, and then don't forget the corn to fill it.

Three things are needed to handle a horse in the breaking. A good whip, but use it little. A rear rope, use it kindly. A surcingle and trip rope, best of all.

Be sure in distributing the manure that the stall barns are well covered. Sometimes the fields that need it least get it because they are handy to the barn. This is a mistake.

When unshucked corn is fed to the cows care must be taken to supply only the requisite amount of grain, which may be determined by selecting an average shock, husking out the ears and ascertaining how much shell-ed corn it carries.

The only preservatives which should be used in milk are cleanliness and cold. Milk through a sterilized canister, both of the gall, remove the milk at once from the sun and cool to 60 degrees or below, and the milk will not sour sooner than it should.

The horse stepped on my foot the other day. My, how it hurt and how the hot blood ran down my leg and made me want to use the whip on the animal. But it was not his fault. It was my carelessness. I am glad I didn't lose my temper, for to punish a horse for something for which he is not to blame is to do the animal a real and lasting injury.

A farmer who has had much experience with quick grass and the methods of eradication it says he finds that the only way is to dig it up root and branch, and he accomplishes it in this way: He goes over the field with a spring tooth harrow, followed by the ordinary harrow, and at the same time as the weeds are accumulated the horses that are gathered and carted to the road or put into a heap with dry straw and set on fire.

Green tomatoes left on the vines after the first frosty frosts can be ripened by pulling up the whole plants and placing them in a warm, sheltered corner which is sheltered. Spread them on the ground and cover with straw, leaves or burlap and thus the fruits will ripen beautifully. Another way is to turn a dry goods box into a ripening-house. Put in sliding shelves that can easily be shoved in and out, and have a close-fitting door. Keep a warm, moist atmosphere in the box and the fruits will ripen well without the sun.

The quality of the butter depends much on the nicely with which the various parts are prepared. Butter, as granules, are well-formed water with a handful of salt should be added and the churn agitated slightly. This thins out the buttermilk, makes it more fluid. The salt adds gravity to the caseine and settles it. If this butter is left to stand for a few minutes after the cream is separated, the water will all rise to the surface in a distinct mass, and then the buttermilk can be drained off from beneath it. Do not draw out all of the fluid. Stop when you think it is nearly all out and repeat the process two or three times.
